

CYTO 2012

International Society for Advancement of Cytometry

Joanne Lannigan received a Masters of Science in Pathology/Immunology in 1987 from the State University of New York at Stony Brook and a Masters of Science in Health Services Administration in 1992 from The New School University in New York City. She served as the Associate Technical Director of the Clinical Immunology and Flow Cytometry Laboratories at University Hospital at the State University of New York at Stony Brook from 1986-1999 where she supervised the clinical immunology and flow cytometry patient testing services. In 2002 she joined the Faculty of the Department of Microbiology in the School of Medicine at the University of Virginia as a Research Scientist. She is currently the Director of the Flow Cytometry Core Facility for the School of Medicine and has been an active member of ISAC since 1996.

Ms. Lannigan's current interests involve advancing technologies in cytometry, instrument evaluation and quality assurance, flow cytometry education, and flow cytometry core management.